Dear Catherine, Paul, Rose and Elsbeth,

I loved coming and trying out the enjoyable trail, because it was fun reading the interesting clues on the wooden signs. Thank you for inviting us to come out and try out the historical trail, because it was a lovely walk aswell as finding out the definition of the big words in the clues, and reading the laminated maps.

I enjoyed finding out which old artefacts belongs to which of the different families because I have found that we might know some of the families in the village! I loved learning about one of the gates, because I heard that Paul made the wicket gate which got their name from cricket wickets.

I was really surprised, because I didn't expect the house in trench 3 to have three floors and I didn't expect the cellar was going to be a rubbish dump for the families to use. I was surprised when an old red bulldozer was found because it belonged to Archie Morson's Uncle Michael. But now the cell is a ruin which is found in between the beautiful land where people come and walk. I really liked the fact that some of the school writer when I was older!

I hope to see you again very soon!

Lots of love Evie xx
