Monday		Children's mental health week		Picture news – Children's mental health week How can learning about the world help us?
Tuesday		Generosity for future generations		Values for life page 290 - "In this worship children will learn about how some people give their time and gifts not to see an instant result, but for the benefit of future generations." Read the story 'Little Acorn' by Melanie Joyce. Ask the children to look at the tiny acorn and talk about the miracle of nature as this small seed has the potential to grow first into a sapling and then into a mighty oak tree. If we planted the seed will we see it as a fully grown oak tree?
Wednesday		Generosity for future generations		Read the story 'The man who planted trees' page 290 VFL As the children listen to the story about a wise and generous shepherd ask them to close their eyes and picture themselves in this barren place. Think about the sounds and smells and how the landscape feels. After the story ask the children how they felt at the beginning when the land was barren, and then how it sounded and looked at the end. How would they describe the acts of the shepherd and the difference that he made? How would they like to be remembered?
